Thanks, Deb, this is great for a "rough and dirty" draft. I like your revisions to date.

I think this section is probably close enough to put into the current draft with just a few changes. I skimmed through it looking for potential significant items we may want to consider adding/ removing. If we meet next week, I agree that we should be able to whip it into shape to get it through ERC and give you some breathing room on n-butanol (and let Barbara and I take a closer look at some later point too☺).

Thanks!

Here is a rough and dirty draft of the formaldehyde susceptibility section. Maybe we can spend an hour or so and whip into shape for the ERC review.
